Letter to the Editor

To all the fine Navy, Marine, and Coast Guard personnel of Guantanamo Bay -

On April 6, my wife and I were cruising on the Grand Princess enjoying our day about 14 miles off the Cuban coast. I had awakened early as the ship sailed around the southeast tip of Cuba. I sat on our balcony mesmerized by my first view of a communist country. I spent a lot of time looking through my binoculars at the coast, hoping to get a view of the Naval Base.

As the day went on, I realized my hopeful view of the base was going to be from a long distance of about 14 to 15 miles. Our captain made the announcement that Guantanamo Bay was off our starboard side and could be identified by twin mountain peaks. This brought a bunch of people to the starboard rail for a view. However, the distance and haze from the coast made it difficult to see much.

It was getting very warm, and my wife and I decided to relax by the pool. Then, we noticed the ship turning around. The captain made a new announcement - one of the passengers had to be disembarked at Guantanamo Bay for a medical emergency. We grew concerned for the passenger and prayed for his well being.

I felt bad for the sick passenger, but was anxious to see the base up close. I ran to retrieve my camera and binoculars from the cabin. As we approached, I watched everything. Suddenly, I had a crowd of people around me, asking what I could see. I gave the play-by-play of the view and started passing around the binoculars to the many who wanted to look.

As the Grand Princess floated along the coast, across from the airfield, we all waved and yelled greetings and watched as two Coast Guard boats approached. We loved it when the crew members waved back. They did such a professional job as they escorted the sick passenger's boat to shore.

As we watched them head into the bay, the Grand Princess started to turn to starboard, and that is when we all got to see the east side of the base. I just cannot express the feelings and comments as we witnessed the large beautiful stars and strips blowing in the wind. It sent a chill down my spine, and I will never forget it. I'm just a middle class American on a vacation, and I had just witnessed my country's flag flying on a communist country.

I just want to say thanks to all you service men and women. You keep us safe back at home. You protect your country with honor. And I for one appreciate all that you do. I wish I had a tape recording of all the passengers gathered around me that day. There were many comments of thanks, appreciation, and patriotism for our armed forces.

I'm back home now and have studied some of the history and news from the Guantanamo Bay Website. It has been very interesting and informative. But, I just felt I should let you know how proud the passengers were of you folks that day on the ship. Good luck and best wishes to you all. Keep up the good work and God bless all of you.

Sincerely
Jack Sinclair

Executive Steering Committee Arrives in GTMO

Meetings were hosted here this week of the Commander, Navy Region Southeast (CNRSE) Executive Steering Committee (ESC), to discuss regional issues and to afford the regional program directors an opportunity to conduct site visits with their installation counterparts.

Some of the main topics discussed included the FY04 Strategic Business Plan, organizational alignment, FY05 projections and business execution.

Regional Program Managers had the opportunity to discuss with regional leaders a wide variety of topics ranging from resources, environmental programs and public safety issues to MWR, quality of life and command support.

The members of the CNRSE ESC, made up of the regions commanding officers and staff, visited GTMO April 19-22 for their quarterly meeting.

News Briefs

Spouses Seminar Registration Deadline Approaches

There is still time to drop off your registration form for the annual Spouses Seminar. Registration deadline is April 23. Participants can drop their forms at the Fleet and Family Support Center or in a special box at the entrance of the NEX.

All spouses whose sponsors are enlisted, officer, civilian or contractor personnel are invited to be a part of this amazing event scheduled for May 6 through May 8.

The three-day event is designed to equip you to successfully navigate your way through life associated with the military.

Breakfast, lunch and childcare are provided free of charge. For more information, contact Terri McCoy at 3777, Julie at 5736, Diana at 4620 or Julie at 7744.

DRMO Spot Bid Sale April 29

DRMO representatives are conducting a Spot Bid on April 29. The Spot Bid Sale will be at the DRMO Offsite at Nob Hill. Inspection is at 6am and the sales start at 8am. Items for sale include trucks, vans, boats with trailers, forklifts and more. Bidders must register to receive a bidder number before they can bid.

Anyone wishing to bid on an item needs to fill out a DRMS Form 3 and pass it on to a DRMO employee. When that item comes up for bid, forms will be passed out before spot bidding starts by the DRMO. Terms (cash) can be paid on the day and up until 1pm on April 30. Removal of the property must be completed by May 4.

DRMO representatives will be available to receive property beginning April 28. For more information, contact Robert Saxman at Robert.Saxman@dls.mil.

LCN Gives Mother's Day Gift to GTMO

In honor of Mother's Day 2004, Local Communications Network, Inc. (LCN) is donating 4,000 calling cards to the American Red Cross to be distributed to the men and women serving in the Armed Forces at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Service members can access the free calling cards using the recently implemented calling card service rolled out by LCN for US troops stationed here in response to the tremendous growth in personnel since the onset of "Operation Enduring Freedom."

Contact your command phone representative to obtain your free calling card. The cards are good through May 15, 2004.

Ferry Landing Beach Open

Beach amenities include: grills, buoys offshore for boats to tie up and cabanas w/ showers. This is a family beach - no alcohol is permitted.

GTMO Girl Scouts Grow Green Thumbs

Story by Samantha McFarland
W.T. Sampson High School

The GTMO Girl Scouts turned into gardeners April 17, as they used their green thumbs to plant trees at W.T. Sampson Elementary School.

Celebrating Earth Day while earning their Mother Nature Patches, 15 Brownies and five Daises gathered at the school to participate in the beautification project.

The Girl Scouts were presented with $100 dollars, raised earlier at a dinner auction, for use in purchasing planting supplies.

Upcoming events for the Girl Scouts:

May - Mother Daughter Tea Party

June - BBQ and the Bridging Ceremony.

Supply Departments “We Operation”

GTMO residents who have enjoyed the culinary delights at Gold Hill Galley over the past two weeks, may not be aware of some of the extraordinary efforts that Supply Department went through to re-open the doors of the once dormant galley.

“In the past 18 months, teams of six Culinary Specialists have arrived at GTMO and served six month temporary assigned duty (TAD) tours, putting in some effort toward the reopening of the galley. The final team serving here presently has completed the bulk of the finishing touches through self help construction measures,” said Cmdr. Thomas Dowden, supply officer.

The Joint Task Force came up with the bulk of the $700,000 allocated for the renovation project. However, because of their self help construction measures, only $600,000 of these funds were used by Supply at Gold Hill. The remaining moneys are slated for improving the existing facilities at Leeward Galley and Sea Side Galley.

The Supply Department organization has been streamlined to function with one Supply Officer, two chiefs and six culinary specialists, working as quality assurance supervisors over a contracted civilian staff of over 200. This is a far cry from the Navy of old, Dowden said. The GTMO Supply Department is presently functioning at the height of A-76 compliance, which is the Navy’s competitive sourcing study, implemented to efficiently operate Navy systems with contract labor, supervised by the minimum Department of the Navy personnel necessary.

Keep GTMO Beautiful Residents Participate in Earth Day Clean-up

On April 16, GTMO got a jump start on the Earth Day celebration by hosting its semiannual base-wide clean-up.

On behalf of the Naval Station, Public Works Environmental Division would like to take this opportunity to express its sincerest appreciation to everyone who participated in this year's Earth Day Base Clean-up. The sign-in sheets reflected a community effort of 191 command representatives, various organizations and civilian volunteers plus 300 school students (both elementary and high school) that made this year's base clean-up a success. These efforts resulted in collecting approximately 15,500 pounds of litter and recyclables.

With such enthusiastic participation, there is no doubt that without the community support and help from the recycling center's staff, we could not have accomplished our goals. We hope to see you all again at the next Base Clean-up in November.

Children's Spring Dance Recital

Guantanamo Bay residents were treated to some toe tapping fun Friday as the children of GTMO (and some parents, too) took to the stage to perform in the Spring Dance Recital.

Instructors Britta Roberts, Ashly Lowe and Heather Schwartz worked for the last four months teaching boys, girls, and even moms, various ballet, tap and Broadway-style routines that wowed audience members. It was definitely a night to remember!

Phillip's Park Hosts High-Flying Family Fun

No, your eyes were not playing tricks on you. If you happened to be out near Phillip's Park on Sunday, you actually did see some high-flying sharks, butterflies, dragonflies and cartoon characters. The Family Kite Flying and Games Day was all part of the continuing events for Month of the Military Child and National Child Abuse Prevention Month, as well as National TV Turn-off Week, that are being celebrated this month.

Despite some windy conditions, and the fear that the smaller kite flyer might get carried away in the breezes, nearly 100 children and parents turned out for the event. It was estimated that at one point there were about 40 kites in the air.

According to W.T. Sampson Principal Sandy DiQuinzio, children made kites at school and at the Youth Center. "The homemade kites didn't work very well, but fortunately, the NEX got in a good supply of kite that Saturday," she said.

Whether flying the homemade kites or the store bought ones, many parents commented that the event took them back to their own childhood and were glad they were getting this opportunity to share such an event with their own children.

"Some kites ended up in the power lines, flew away off shore or were tangled up in the baseball backstop," said DiQuinzio. "But, I think the parents had just as much fun flying them. Most of the families brought picnic lunches and ate them under the pavilions."

In addition to all the kite flying fun, the MWR staff also set up the giant chess game, as well as Twister and other board games.

"The families played with these games when they got tired of flying kites," said DiQuinzio. "I think everyone had a really pleasant afternoon, and it was super to see the families playing together. I recommend that the kite flying and family picnic event should become an annual part of Month of the Military Child. We want to thank Petty Officer Jeffrey Mays and the volunteers of the FCPOA for helping with the event, as well as MWR."

An important Message from your GTMO Safety Office

Proper Care & Feeding of Your PPE

By Robert Warling, CIH, CSP
Naval Station Safety Office

To protect employees supervisors must consider options. Using personal protective equipment (PPE) should be viewed more as an administrative control. Some colleagues may disagree, believing use of PPE is delegated to the individual or their personal control. Granted, the worker bears the primary burden of responsibility. He or she must correctly wear the PPE to ensure it is effective, and therefore, protective. However, supervisors and managers must make the decision to use PPE in the first place, vis-à-vis, employing an alternative product, procedure, process, or an engineering control.

Examples of PPE are respirators, safety glasses, vented goggles, un-vented chemical goggles, face shields, welding goggles and welding hoods, protective gloves, safety footwear, chemical aprons, hard-hats, and hearing protection. These items protect workers when properly worn. Employees who are required to wear PPE must learn and recognize through training what the limitations are for various PPE. Workers need to learn how to inspect, maintain, make minor repairs, stow, and when to replace PPE.

Respiratory PPE is extensively used despite nearly every occupational safety and health textbook stating respirators should be a protective measure of "last resort." There are good reasons for this consensus opinion. Respirators are uncomfortable. Breathing through filters is exhausting and enhances heat stress conditions. Men have a tendency to excessively tighten the straps holding the respirator to the head. This can create potential leaks and pressure points.

To employ respiratory PPE legally requires a written, respirator protection plan. The plan must address training, respirator selection, fit testing, cartridge service-life, medical screening, equipment cleaning and disinfecting, maintenance, record keeping and storage. Quality respirators, filter cartridges, and the time and labor involved can make respirator programs an expensive way to control airborne hazards. Even after employees are trained and fit-tested, workers must remember always to wear their respirator in a manner identical to their initial fit test. Male workers must remember to shave before using a respirator since beard growth inhibits the ability of respirators sealing against their face.

An uncomfortable worker will fatigue more rapidly. This will affect their productivity and may contribute to mishaps resulting with injuries. Performing work while wearing a respirator is analogous to riding a bicycle through six inches (15 cm) of wet snow. Both tasks are achievable but neither presents an easy challenge.

In comparison, protecting and preserving vision is easy. Few of us will hesitate to wear sunglasses to reduce solar glare. The same attitude must prevail to avoid splashing chemicals and blocking airborne particles. Using an inexpensive barrier, made from a strong, plastic material protects your vision.

Chemical sprays and injurious flying debris can blind a worker in a blink of the eye. In less than one-quarter of a second, solid or liquid matter reaches the surface of the eye. In the case of a liquid, depending upon its chemical nature, e.g., pH, affinity for water, and how quickly and thoroughly the surface of the eye is washed, will determine a worker's vision is restored. Whenever you work with chemicals, use power tools or lawn equipment, make it a habit to always wear safety glasses.

As with sight preservation through the use of safety glasses, the wearing of hearing protection provides for a better quality of life as we age. Hearing loss is not always a result of noise exposure, although noise-induced hearing loss is common. Noise-induced hearing loss is relatively simple to prevent. Wear hearing protection whenever noise levels make it difficult to converse with another person. A rule of thumb is the necessity to raise your voice to be understood by someone standing but three or four feet away.

Other types of PPE have utility and limitations. Learn what to wear, when to wear it, and gain knowledge of those limitations. Ask for, read about and share quality information. Practice operational risk management and promote safety with co-workers, friends and family member.

The Ombudsman program was adapted for the U.S. Navy in 1970. However, the roots of the program can be found as far back as nineteenth century Scandinavia when such positions were established to give ordinary private citizens access to express their concerns to high government officials.

As your Naval Station and Naval Hospital Ombudsmen, we have committed our time and efforts on a volunteer basis and firmly believe in the program. So, please take advantage of this valuable resource!

We will act as your troubleshooter, advocate, mediator and interpreter. Our primary function is to act as liaison between the command and dependents. This service goes both ways in that we assist the command in keeping dependents informed and helping in any way we can to make your tour here the best it can be!

If there's anything we can do for you, call (8am - 9pm) or email (anytime). In the event of an emergency, do not hesitate to call regardless of time of day.

Military Family Resource Center (MFRC)

The Military Family Resource Center (MFRC) is a tool for enhancing the effectiveness of military family policy and programs. MFRC's mission is to act as a catalyst of information between the Department of Defense Military Community and Family Policy (MCFP) office, military policy makers, and program staff, and to deliver timely, efficient, and effective information services through cutting-edge technology.

MFRC also incorporates the National Clearinghouse for the Military Child Development Program. The Clearinghouse was created by the Department of Defense in response to former president Bill Clinton's urging that the lessons learned from the Military Child Development Program be widely shared with the rest of the nation to improve the quality of child care in the United States. While this remains the central mission, the focus of the Clearinghouse has been expanded to include information on military youth programs.

Yard Of The Month Program Kicks-off

In an effort to recognize the hard-working efforts for base residents who constantly ensure that the exterior appearance of their lawn and housing unit are the best they can be, the Commanding Officer and Housing Office are kicking-off a new Yard of the Month Program.

The family housing neighborhood managers will submit six nominations to the housing facility manager. The facility manager will narrow the six nominations to three and submit the finalists to the award committee.

The award committee, comprised of the NAVSTA Command Master Chief, Ombudsman, Housing Director/Facility Manager, and a previous "Yard of the Month" recipient, will then select the final winner.

The program begins this week, and "Yard of the Month" will be chosen from one of the following Guantanamo Bay family housing neighborhoods: Caravella Point, Caribbean Circle, Center Bargo, Deer

Point, Evans Point, Iguana Terrace, Marina Point, Marine Site, Mobile Point, Nob Hill, Paola Point, Radio Point, Villamar, West Bargo and Windward Loop. The same home may not be chosen for "Yard of the Month" more than once annually.

The Commanding Officer, CMC and Housing Director will present the "Yard of the Month" award to the winner at their residence during the first week of the following month.

"Yard of the Month" winners receive a sign to place in their yard for one month, a picture in the Gazette, a letter of recognition and a reserved parking space at the Navy Exchange.

Good luck to all base residents. This is a chance to let your gardening and landscaping skills shine!

Note: Just a reminder that residents still need to adhere to the bases' policy on lawn watering.

CALENDAR GIRLS

Comedy
108min

Starring:

*Julie Walters,
Helen Mirren,
Penelope Wilton*

This film tells the true (but slightly fictionalized) story of 11 middle-aged women, ages 45 to 60, from the small village of Rylstone in Yorkshire, England who posed naked for the annual calendar of local branch of the Women's Institute, to raise money for medical research, after the husband of one of the members, becomes terminally ill from leukemia.

EUROTRIP

Comedy/
Romance
92min

Starring:

*Scott Mechlowicz,
Jacob Pitts,
Michelle Trachtenberg*

When the German pen pal high school student Scott Thomas has been using to help him get an "A" in German for years suggests that they meet, the boy's reaction is to freak out, but when he discovers to his delight that his pen pal is actually a cute fraulein, he and his best friend, Cooper, fly to Europe, accompanied by twins Jenny and Jamie, after graduation to meet her, in an exciting and sometimes wacky trip across Europe.

THE COOLER

Comedy/Crime
101min

Starring:

*William H. Macy,
Alec Baldwin,
Maria Bello,*

Bernie Lootz is the unluckiest man in Vegas...so unlucky that it's contagious. Looking to knock out their highest rollers, one of the last mob-run casinos in town, the Shangri-La Hotel and Casino downtown, decides to use Bernie as a "cooler" to defuse their unlucky streaks.
